SENIOR FRONTEND DEVELOPER   FULLSTACK WEB DEVELOPER
Hello, I'm
Patryk Szram

For a decade, I have been developing my skills as a programmer, gaining experience in web development, specializing in designing responsive web applications tailored to the business needs of clients. I am an engaged, self-taught learner, understanding good programming practices, business goals, and client project requirements.

My readiness to tackle challenges has always been my hallmark. I'm intrigued by all aspects of web development, from application architecture to code development/maintenance, optimization, and process automation. I also have graphic design skills supported by professional experience in UX/UI and understand the processes of designing materials for print/publication.

PRESENT

Senior Frontend Developer

As part of EagerDevs, I had the opportunity to work with a team responsible for designing a dedicated design system for a client from an Arab country. The design system was based on the Stencil library, which allowed us to compile the components we developed into Angular technology. Using Storybook, we showcased all possible configurations of components to the client, who then implemented our design system in their applications.
